29 March 2020

LETTER TO AUSTRALIANS FROM THE AUSTRALIAN HIGH COMMISSIONER

Hello everyone

Hope you all continue to keep well and are finding ways to stay occupied and maintain contact with loved ones and friends at home.

I don't have any major updates for you today but for those of you outside South Africa we do have a few updates on situations in your locations. Please see the below information for Angola, Botswana, Eswatini, Lesotho, Mozambique and Namibia. No matter where you are, please try and keep informed and follow the local media for current developments, and adhere to the rules and guidelines as instructed by government authorities.

If you're keeping across COVID-19 updates in Australia, you might be interested in the Australian Government's new Coronavirus app and WhatsApp tools which can be downloaded from the Australian Government website - link here <https://www.australia.gov.au/>

I've also just seen a moving video from home that I thought you might like to see - professional opera singers leading residents at a Sydney Waterloo apartment complex in a moving rendition of "I Still Call Australia Home", from their apartment balconies YouTube: <https://youtu.be/AW8yrAvAmrY>.

Information will be repeated and updated where appropriate in each letter as we're having new Australians register each day and we don't want them to miss what's been given to others in previous letters.

Please continue to spread the word to Australians you may know in southern Africa. If they haven't already registered with us please get in touch through consular.pretoria@dfat.gov.au. Again, the information we really need includes:

- . Full names, dates of birth and passport numbers for yourself and all accompanying Australians;
- . Where you are located – if this is a hotel please provide the full hotel address, phone number and your room number;
- . The best way to contact you – email and phone please. We would like to be able to speak to you all individually, but please understand that we are a small office and that we are under lockdown restrictions. Email communication is most efficient from our end, but if this is not possible for you of course phone us on 012 423 6000. We don't currently have reception staff but we're doing the best we can to answer your calls.

- Advice if you suffer from a chronic medical condition and you are concerned about access to medications or treatment.
- Name and Australian contact information for a nominated family member that we are able to contact on your behalf in the event of an emergency. We are of course bound by the Australian Privacy Act so will not contact other persons about your situation unless it relates to a life-threatening emergency. It would be helpful though if you could confirm your consent for this in your email.

Information common to all countries

Safety and Security: Whether in lockdown or not it is important to consider your personal safety and security.

Information on security concerns can be found in the "Safety" section of our travel advice at www.smartraveller.gov.au – just type South Africa or the country you are in into the destination box and follow the prompts.

It's important to be vigilant about your safety even when in lock down – the basics are crucial: ensure your hotel room doors are locked and use the extra safety latch; if you do go out make sure you are back at your accommodation before it gets dark; make sure you watch your wallet, mobile phone and other valuables, and ensure your passport is secure. All those normal common sense precautions but it's easy to be complacent. We want you to be safe.

Keep in touch: As we continue efforts to ensure we know of all Australians in the region and their location, please let us know if your circumstances change, i.e. if you move address or contact number, or if you return safely home to Australia.

Angola

A state of emergency has been declared from 27 March to 11 April and a lockdown implemented during this period. People will be required to stay at home and only leave their premises for the purpose of health care and to acquire basic services. All flights in and out of Angola are suspended, land border crossings are closed and passenger ships are banned. Angola has confirmed cases of the COVID-19 virus.

Botswana

Botswana is currently not in a total lockdown. However, President Masisi has announced that a full lockdown is imminent. There are no scheduled flights, and all land and air borders have been closed to foreign nationals. Doctors, pharmacies and supermarkets currently remain open to the public yet restricted to a maximum of 50 individuals at a time. There is a total suspension of public gatherings of more than 100 people. Botswana does not yet have a confirmed case of COVID-19, though has quarantined a number of people, and you should still take care to minimise your risk of exposure. Please also look at the Botswana Facebook page: Covid-19_Mohw and ring this Toll free no. 0800 600 740 for further information.

Eswatini

Eswatini announced a 20 day partial lockdown which includes a closure of borders for the movement of people for 20 days from 27 March 2020. There are no international flights during this period. The partial lockdown measures include the suspension of all unnecessary travel between cities, towns and communities, except for instances of providing or acquiring essential services such as healthcare, food, or banking services. All gatherings of more than 20 people are prohibited. Eswatini has confirmed cases of the COVID-19 virus.

Lesotho

Lesotho is currently in a full lockdown until 21 April. The borders with South Africa are closed, however essential goods and cargo will be allowed. All persons are expected to remain at their places of residence, except to seek medical attention and purchase essential items. All essential services such as supermarket, grocers, essential banking services, post offices, government service departments, hospitals, clinics, doctor's practices and pharmacies will remain open. All gatherings are prohibited. The Lesotho Defence Force and police service have been operationalised to ensure compliance with lockdown measures. Lesotho does not yet have a confirmed case of COVID-19 but you should nonetheless take care to minimise your risk of exposure to COVID-19. For further information see this link <https://www.gov.ls/wp-content/uploads/2020/03/Lockdown-Gazette-Lesotho.pdf>.

Mozambique

Mozambique has not announced a lockdown as yet but has confirmed cases of the COVID-19 virus. Additional measures have been put in place to mitigate the risk of contagion, with airlines reducing capacity and cancelling flights. Mozambique currently requires all travellers arriving to self-isolate for 14 days. Mozambique has banned public events with 50 or more people. Most supermarkets, grocery stores, pharmacies and other essential services remain open, including domestic transport arrangements.

Namibia

Namibia has announced a state of emergency. A 21-day lockdown is effective from 27 March to 16 April which includes a 30-day international travel ban and border closures. Khomas (Windhoek) and Erongo (Swakopmund, Walvis Bay) regions are in full lockdown with restrictions on people movement. People are not allowed to leave their homes during the lockdown period, unless for essential services to pharmacies, food supply stores, courts, banks and for medical reasons. Gatherings may not exceed more than 10 persons and there are restrictions on domestic transportation. Namibia has confirmed cases of the COVID-19 virus. For further information ring the Namibian Toll-Free Number 0800-100-100 or the website <https://convid19esswebsite.firebaseio.com/home>.

South Africa

Lockdown

A 21-day lockdown commenced at midnight 26 March and will be in effect until after Easter, to 16 April. It is very important to follow the advice given by South African government authorities, particularly in relation to lockdown procedures and restrictions in place. Information is available at www.gov.za. Lockdown regulations are enforceable by the police and other law enforcement authorities. Violations will be dealt with seriously and may result in legal action and imprisonment.

We, and our families, at the High Commission are also in lock-down at our homes but will do what we can to continue to keep in touch with you and provide consular advice as best we can, particularly for Australians who may have chronic health conditions or who are particularly vulnerable in other ways.

Transport options while under lockdown: While of course movements will be heavily restricted during lockdown if you do need to travel, for a medical appointment for example, there are options. The South African Minister of Transport announced on 25 March that e-hailing services such as Uber are authorised to operate but with restricted hours and conditions.

I received a message from Uber on 27 March advising that they are authorised to operate daily for all riders but under restricted hours from 5am to 9am and 4pm to 8pm for permitted travel purposes only. The Uber app will only be available during the restricted operating hours and travelling is restricted to obtaining an essential good or service (e.g. grocery shopping and medical appointments) or rendering an essential service. For UberX, UberGO, UberBLACK, Uber ASSIST, UberVIP there is a maximum of one passenger; for UberXL a maximum of 2 passengers and for UberVan a maximum of 3 passengers. Passengers are requested to sit in the back seat of the vehicle. It is illegal to transport any alcoholic beverages in any vehicle during the lockdown.

Medical: If you have a condition that you take regular medication for it's of course vital that you have ample supplies to see you through. Australian prescriptions cannot be filled in South Africa so if you do need to get additional medications it's important to start thinking about this.

Doctors and pharmacies will remain open during the lockdown. I recommend you visit a GP rather than going to a hospital at this time, unless of course you have an emergency. Your hotel should be able to give you advice on a GP nearby or may have a doctor on call that you can access. I suggest you have a chat with your hotel's concierge or reception about this, including what arrangements they have in place in the event you have some sort of medical emergency.

Visas: South African authorities have advised that there will be no penalty for travellers whose visas expire as a result of the lockdown.
